Profile of the College

The College was started in June 1964 under the name Commerce College, Shillong, as a purely private college in G. S. Road, Shillong. It was shifted to the present land and building on 1st May 1967. Temporary affiliation was granted by the Guwahati University up to B.Com (Pass Course) in 1967.

The College was closed down by the Governing Body from 1st April 1977 due to mis-management by the College Authorities, and was de-affiliated by NEHU. The services of the Principal, Teaching Staff and Office Staff were also terminated by the Governing Body.

The management of the college was taken over by the Government of Meghalaya by an Act of 1984 adopted by the Meghalaya Legislative Assembly and duly assented by the President of India on 17th November 1984.

The college was re-opened from 28th May 1986 as Shillong Commerce College, with PU Commerce classes (Class XI and XII) in the same land and building duly improved, renovated and repaired after permission for reopening was granted by NEHU authorities. Initially provisional affiliation was granted for 3 years only by the University for PU Commerce from 11th September 1987. However, the college is affiliated to the North Eastern Hill University for under graduate, B.Com (Hons.) classes. The college is now recognized by the UGC under 2F in January 1989 and under 12B in June 2003.

In the beginning the college started with a full time Principal who came on deputation from the Government of Meghalaya, 7 full time lecturers and 6 full time office staff with a strength of only 120 students for the session 1987-88. Now the college has 25 full time lecturers and 15 office staff with strength of 1150 students: 748 Degree students & 402 Higher Secondary for the session 2015-2016.

In a very short span of time the college has been able to produce students who have done remarkably well in their lives. Yet the college still needs to achieve more in terms of quality education. In this respect it is felt that the process of Assessment and Accreditation is a great opportunity to go beyond our daily routine and get involved in the extremely satisfying process of overhauling and self learning. It is hoped that something good would definitely emerge out of the assessment, which would thus create a better academic climate in the college.

The College has grown in terms of number of faculty members, students, co- curricular and extracurricular programs. We are open to students of all communities. A large proportion of our students are first generation learners in the arena of higher education. We strive tirelessly to upgrade skills and knowledge, impart values and guide our students to take their place as responsible citizens of India.

The College strives to provide holistic education to the students. The Self Study Report is a culmination of our efforts and we look forward to a rewarding interaction with the NAAC Peer Team to accredit our institution.

Vision

Vision of Shillong Commerce college is to be an accessible, responsive and inclusive college delivering excellent programmes of teaching and outreach that improve the lives and opportunities of students - primarily for the economically disadvantaged- of the state and the region as a whole.

Mission

The educational mission of the Institute is the promotion of learning - learning by the students and the faculty. Central to our mission are our goals, which are to foster excellence in our teaching, scholarship and service, to prepare students with attitudes, skills and habits of lifelong learning and with leadership skills, enabling them to be useful members of the global society.

1. Brief introduction to the agricultural scene in India before and after Independence, stressing on the importance of a nation's sovereignty to hone its own natural resources.

2. The lecture touched upon agriculture in India before independence under the British rule and focused on the occurrences of famines during the 19th and 20th centuries, namely, the Great Famine of 1876 and the Bengal Famine of 1943. The Great Famine was due to an intense drought that resulted in crop failure in the Deccan Plateau and had an estimated 10 million casualties. The Bengal Famine was caused by a combination of natural factors, sociopolitics and callous leadership and had an estimated 3 million casualties

3. The lecture highlighted the causes behind these disasters including the role played by colonial policies. During the Great Famine of 1876, the British government in India continued to export wheat despite the woeful shortages of food within the country. The Bengal Famine of 1943 was compounded by a number of factors – the occupation of Burma by Japan from 1942 to 1945 which led to a decrease in rice imports into India, the British declined aid from the United States and Canada during this crisis situation despite Bengal being hit by a cyclone in 1943, the laissez faire policy of the British government, high taxation which left the peasantry impoverished and India's plight of being under British rule which meant it did not have the power of self-determination. Al this led to disastrous consequences for India which clearly showed itself in the failure of its agriculture.

4. The lecture moved on to the period after India's independence from 1947 onwards and focused on the policy changes and new interventions by the now sovereign government of India. Although India still had droughts,there were no large-scale famines like the ones experienced under the British government. This however was not an indication of a healthy agricultural sector. On the contrary, there was a declining trend in the share of agriculture in India's GDP from the 1950s onwards until the Green Revolution.

5. The Green Revolution was launched in 1965 by the Government of India to tackle the problem of food scarcity within the country. Mention was made of Dr. Norman Ernest Borlaug, who introduced the wheat variety responsible for the Green Revolution; and M. S. Swaminathan, also known as the Father of the Green Revolution in India, and his contributions.

6. The Green Revolution had three main components namely, HYV seeds, irrigation and, fertilizers and pesticides. Major infrastructural changes were made in and around the Punjab region to make these necessary changes. Thus, India went from being a food-deficient country to a major food exporter in the world after the introduction of Green Revolution in the country. This part of the lecture was accompanied by digital representations that showed statistical evaluations of India's food production from the year 1999 to 2009, all of which showed an upward trend.

7. On the other hand, the Green Revolution also brought with it major disadvantages in the long run. Some of these were decline in arable land, low yields in the long run due to deteriorating water and soil conditions borne out of excessive irrigation, problem of salinity, an uptick in farmer suicides especially in areas that have adopted green revolution agricultural techniques etc. M. S. Swaminathan himself was one to warn about over dependence on green revolution techniques as an inadequate solution to India's food production problems. The Green Revolution ended in the year 1978. What one can deduce is that the techniques of the green revolution alone are not sustainable in the long run.

8. The lecture then moves on to discuss the agricultural scene in India in the 21st century. It focuses on thre far laws passed by the Government of India in 2020, namely,
   - The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act, 2020.
   - The Farmer's Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Bill, 2020.

- The Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Bill, 2020.

9. Each law was briefly discussed to determine whether they solved India's agricultural problems or potentially exacerbate them. To begin with, the Essential Commodities (Amendment) Act, 2020 has removed most food items from the Essential Commodities List which would subject such commodities to market-determined forces outside the ambit of government price regulation, and does not put a limit to stock piling of commodities for industrial stakeholders in agriculture (processing units and value chain participants) except under extenuating circumstances. The Farmer's Produce Trade and Commerce (Promotion and Facilitation) Bill, 2020 on the other hand has granted free inter-State and intra-State trade of agricultural produce, which means that the ambit of State APMCs to regulate price for the farmers' benefit using MSP would shrink considerably, again giving a free hand to market forces which has been documented to be disadvantageous to small and subsistence farmers. The Farmers (Empowerment and Protection) Agreement on Price Assurance and Farm Services Bill, 2020 encourages contract farming which in turn encourages big contracting companies to dictate what gets produced and may result in agricultural monopolies. The discussion gives the example of the case between Pepsi and the contract farmers in Gujarat who were later charged with monetary penalties to the amount of Rs. 1 Crore per farmer for illegal distribution of company seeds. It goes to show that this Bill in fact encourages a flawed system of farming that heavily favours big corporations.
10. An important question is addressed at this point in the lecture which examines why the Indian government is coming up with such laws that seemingly do not benefit sustainable agriculture and the vast majority of Indian farmers. Dr. Mawroh attributes this to an outdated ideology that the Indian government is yet to evolve from. This is the mental need for 'Food Security' as opposed to the other ideology of 'Food Sovereignty'. Both these ideologies are briefly discussed with the main tenets of 'Food Security' being, increase in food quantity at a macro level and a model that does not take into account aspects like environmental footprint, farmer/people centric approach, traditional agricultural practices and so on. While the 'Food Sovereignty' ideology focuses on a people centric approach to agriculture, on quality alongside quantity, use of local knowledge systems and environmentally sustainable practices. The difference between the two ideologies is very apparent where one has its roots in overpowering nature, the other has its roots in supporting people's livelihoods sustainably.
11. The next component of this lecture briefly discussed agriculture in the States of Meghalaya and Nagaland that still follow traditional food systems and what is called the Indigenous Peoples' food system. This system mainly comprises of paddy cultivation, use of forest produce, home/kitchen gardens and other local systems of food production. This multi-based food system has resulted in increased agrobiodiversity in the regions of Meghalaya and Nagaland. Government sources however show that Meghalaya still falls short of meeting adequate food supply for its people despite this multiplicity of food sources. A probable reason cited by Dr. Mawroh is the lack of proper infrastructure dedicated to agriculture such as insufficient warehouses for storage of surplus produce. However, one point that is stressed upon is the need to adopt and adapt traditional food systems with modern food systems to meet both aspects of quality and quantity with a focus on sustainability.

12. The lecture concluded with a digital representation of the percentage share of GDP of the different sectors of the economy (services, agriculture, manufacturing, construction, mining) in the years 2011-2012; and how agriculture still employs about 50% of the population (the largest share in employment percentage) yet contributes less than 20% to India's GDP. What is needed therefore is a fundamental change in the way we view agriculture in this country. Political independence might have helped stop famines but there is a need for change in food ideology as well. As was put in the lecture, "Political sovereignty must be complemented by food sovereignty."

National Webinar on New Education Policy 2020

National Webinar on New Education Policy 2020: Challenges and Opportunities for Higher Education Institutions with reference to North-East India

About the College: The College was started in June 1964 under the name Commerce College, Shillong, as a purely private college in G. S. Road, Shillong. It was shifted to the present land and building on 1st May 1967. Temporary affiliation was granted by the Guwahati University up to B.Com (Pass Course) in 1967. The College was closed down by the Governing Body from 1st April 1977 due to mis-management by the College Authorities, and was de-affiliated by NEHU. The services of the Principal, Teaching Staff and Office Staff were also terminated by the Governing Body.

The management of the college was taken over by the Government of Meghalaya by an Act of 1984 adopted by the Meghalaya Legislative Assembly and duly assented by the President of India on 17th November 1984.

The college was re-opened from 28th May 1986 as Shillong Commerce College, with PU Commerce classes (Class XI and XII) in the same land and building duly improved, renovated and repaired after permission for reopening was granted by NEHU authorities. Initially provisional affiliation was granted for 3 years only by the University for PU Commerce from 11th September 1987. However, the college is affiliated to the North Eastern Hill University for under graduate, B.Com (Hons.) classes. The college is now recognized by the UGC under 2F in January 1989 and under 12B in June 2003.

In the beginning the college started with a full time Principal who came on deputation from the Government of Meghalaya, 7 full time lecturers and 6 full time office staff with a strength of only 120 students for the session 1987-88. Now the college has 25 full time lecturers and 15 office staff with strength of 1150 students: 748 Degree students & 402 Higher Secondary for the session 2015-2016.

In a very short span of time the college has been able to produce students who have done remarkably well in their lives. Yet the college still needs to achieve more in terms of quality education. In this respect it is felt that the process of Assessment and Accreditation is a great opportunity to go beyond our daily routine and get involved in the extremely satisfying process of overhauling and self learning. It is hoped that something good would definitely emerge out of the assessment, which would thus create a better academic climate in the college.

The College has grown in terms of number of faculty members, students, co- curricular and extracurricular programs. We are open to students of all communities. A large proportion of our students are first generation learners in the arena of higher education. We strive tirelessly to upgrade skills and knowledge, impart values and guide our students to take their place as responsible citizens of India.

The College strives to provide holistic education to the students. The Self Study Report is a culmination of our efforts and we look forward to a rewarding interaction with the NAAC Peer Team to accredit our institution.

Objectives of the Webinar:

- To provide a wide view on the implantation of New Education Policy 2020 focusing on Higher Education
- To understand the challenges in implementing this policy in North-India
- To explore the possibilities and opportunities in implementing this policy in the context of North-East India

Sub Themes:

Introduction:

The Department of Sociology, Shillong Commerce College, Shillong has organized "A Talk on Gender Sensitization on the topic Women's Rights are Human Rights", which was held on Zoom platform on the 15th December 2021.

The programme was attended by the Principal, teachers and students of Shillong Commerce College, Shillong. Around 185 attended the talk.

The programme started by welcoming all the participants and the resource person by Dr. Sanbanielyne Ryndem, Coordinator and host of the programme.

A welcome address was given by Dr. Sabita Sen, Principal of the institution. Dr. Sen briefly highlighted the difference between 'Gender' and 'Sex'. She informed that in the United States there are about 52 gender whereas India only recognize the three gender i.e., Male, Female and Transgender. It is only recently that in April 2014, the Supreme Court of India declares Transgender to be the third gender.

Before handling over the time to the Resource Person, a brief introduction was made regarding her Academic Career by the Coordinator of the programme.

Important aspect of the Talk:

Dr. Rekha Shangpliang started with the Feminist movement in America when women were fighting for the suffrage rights of women. And around the late 70's and early 80's the Radical Feminist movement started and this was the time which caught the attention of gender discrimination and violence against women. And as academician this period is of interest because there was a flood of literature and it is in this period that Simone de Beauvior said that 'one is not born but becomes a women'.

- She then talks about the meaning of Human Rights.

- She mentioned about the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR). The UDHR is a declaration adopted by the United Nations General Assembly on 10th December 1948 at Paris. Eleanor Roosevelt the widow of American President Frank Roosevelt chaired the session. It is also known as Humanity's MAGNA CARTA.

- She also mentioned about the 30 Basic Human Rights.

- She further talks about Women's Rights as Human rights. This is a common phrase used today by the Feminist movement. It was first used by the First Lady of the United States on 5th September 1995 at the United Nations Fourth World Conference at Beijing. The speech has focused on many violations against women including rape, female genital mutilation, dowry burnings and domestic violence which Clinton claimed to be human rights violations. The mostly women filled audience applauded and cheered during the 20 minutes speech. This led to a series of new legislation – the Beijing Declaration identified 12 areas including education, health, economic participation and environment in need of urgent action.

- She also talks about Human Rights violation against women. The culture of silence in which domestic violence is considered to be a private matter.

- She talks about the types of violation against women which include: drug related violence, sexual violence, dowry related violence, domestic violence, harassment at workplace, women in armed conflict situation.

- She talks about the need of the hour and suggestions for improvement which include changing the mindset of the people, women's Self Help groups and NGO's to be used as effective tools and also to give an awareness of Acts and Laws protecting women.

- She concluded her talk giving the theme for this year's International Women's Day which says- Let us "Choose to Challenge"- for which challenge comes a change to break the barriers of gender discrimination. And she also played a song that was presented in one of the UN meeting and the name of the song is' One Women'.

Feedback form was issued to all the participants at the end of the session. The programme ended with the Vote of Thanks from Dr. Sandra Adriana Khonglah. The programme was useful and knowledgeable.

Report on the cleaning drive of drinking water source at Umphrew Village on 17th December, 2021

Rivers are healthy freshwater environments that supply water for drinking, growing crops and transport. Rivers are vital for people and wildlife; it needs careful management because there's not always enough to go around. The plants, trees, animals and human would not thrive if our rivers were polluted.

2. Tripura Lady, 86 years old selling Beetle Nuts- This old lady from Tripura has been selling beetle nuts for many years. She has no intention of returning back to Tripura as her parents were earlier settlers of this place. She has no knowledge as to why her parents migrated here but she is happy as they share a conducive relation with the other members like the locals. In fact they have assimilated together over the years.

3. Child selling Beetle Nuts and other food items- This 6 year Old girl has been helping her mother by selling these food items like chips, sweets, beetle nut etc. In her mother's absence she usually sits in the market place. She has a younger sibling whom she takes care at the same time. We considered this as child labour as she is not in School and mostly selling these items.

4. Youth starting her own business- This 19 year old adolescent girl has been running her family business for the last three years or so. She completed her high school and now supports her family through this business. She says profit depends on the market days and buyers are mostly locals only.

shella

Before leaving Shella, our final meeting was with the Secretary of Shella. With few of the students we had a healthy discussion with him where we could gather a lot of information regarding the Organizational structure of the Village Council, the uniqueness of their culture and tradition; and the challenges faced by the people. An interesting thing is that though they live in border area yet there has been no instances of conflict.

Point of discussion:

- Leadership Role is good. They can control everything and everyone lives in peace.
- Headman takes care of the Judiciary and Legislature and Executive by the Secretary.
- He says that they plan to have a Sheila House in Shillong to meet the needs of the Shella students studying there.
- The Village does not promote tourism in order to protect the identity of the people. So there are few tourist who visit this place.
- During Covid times the village provided its own hospital beds to the patients at their own PHCs.
- He says there is no capitalism or economic oppression in the village. Its simple economic lifestyle.

Observation during the Visit:

- Weather is hot throughout the year but in Summers it is extreme.
- Their main source of livelihood is growing beetlenut, fruits and vegetables and other eatable items.
- Market place included both the Khasi and non-Khasis.
- Most of the shopkeepers are women-both young and old. Few instance of Children selling small items.
- We see a Mixed Community like the Khasis, Bengalees residing together. Yet they share a peaceful relationship.
- There is no trading relations with Bangladesh though they live near its border.
- Property goes to all the children, but lion's share goes to the eldest daughter.
- The elders brother has responsibility both in his mother's house and in his house's wife. Thus making it a patriarchal community. Even after his marriage he can interfere into the family's property if needed.
- The market has become small in the last few years because most of the residents have moved to Shillong in search of jobs and for education.
- Market day takes place once in four days
- Mostly people are Christians but Hindus are also there.
- There are about 3100 settlers in the village.

- There is a strong Spirit of co-operation and security among the members and residents.
- The Bengalis and Garos work as tenants in the Border Areas.
- Shelia has 10 sub localities.
- Many people from Sheila comes to Shillong for education. So most of the people are educated They come back to Sheila after their Education.
- Cultural Lag is evident.
- Their Traditional dress is different from the rest of the Khasi Community.

VISIT TO JYOTI SROAT – BETHANY SOCIETY ON THE 13TH MAY 2022

As most of us are aware, on Friday the 13th of May 2022, some of the teachers, students and I are visiting the Jyoti Sroat School for children with special needs. The purpose of this visit is to expose our students and to make them aware about the challenges and hurdles faced by these special children. Among them are those with various disabilities including communication disabilities, learning disabilities, mentally retarded, poignant and behavioural disorders, improvement disabilities, Downs's syndrome and Autism. Most of the children /students in this school come from underprivileged background.

It is important for our students to understand the hardships, difficulties and feelings faced by these children /students with special needs and this visit will help them become more aware compassionate, and helpful towards them both now and in future.

I have been visiting this special school several times, and have witnessed the increasing needs despite funds received. Their needs are in terms of medication, teaching tools, personal needs of these special children etc. There are many unreached children with special needs in the rural areas targeted by this school of which majority of them live in abject poverty. The approximate need of medication for each child is Rs 200/- to 300.These children need to take medications throughout their life.

Let us, with our contribution, express our concern and compassion for these special children. Our giving to these less fortunate ones will benefit them physically and also psychologically. Let us join our hands together in this small endeavour and in turn be a part of something bigger.

The Mentoring and Value Education Cell organised a Faculty Training on "How to mentor students". This workshop was conducted by the College Counsellor on 7th March 2022 at 10: 30am in the Conference Hall. All faculty members of different Departments attended.

This workshop was organised to promote the importance of mentors in a student's life and to help them grow and become the best version of themselves so that he/she can achieve his/her Personal or Career goals. The counsellor emphasized that a mentor can help introduce mentees to new ways of thinking, challenging their limiting assumptions, sharing valuable life lessons. Having a mentor is beneficial because mentors can provide knowledge and counsel to help students through their undergraduate studies. Towards the end of the workshop, prepared Mentoring students' questionnaire were distributed to all faculty members to use during their mentoring session with their mentees.

There was a round of Q & A session.

Mentoring sessions were started by the faculty members where each of the faculty members were assigned students to mentor. At the end of mentoring sessions all mentors submitted their reports. There were many issues faced during mentoring sessions including issues such as Smoking Addiction, difficulty to concentrate while studying, financial problems, lack motivation, inability to attend classes due to space constraints in the classrooms.

INTERNATIONAL DAY OF THE GIRL CHILD
11 OCTOBER
In 2021 we commemorate the Generation Equality Forum (GEF), launching 5-year commitments from civil society leaders, governments, corporations and change makers from around the world for bold gender equality impacts.
At the same time, we are in the second year of the COVID-19 pandemic. The pandemic has accelerated digital platforms for learning, earning and connecting, while also highlighting girls' diverse digital realities.
The gender digital divide in connectivity, devices and use, skills and jobs is real.
It is an inequity and exclusion gap across geographies and generations that is our challenge to address if the digital revolution is to be for all, with all, by all.

Date: October 2, 2021

Total Cadets Present: 20 SW, 29 SD

To commemorate the Birth Anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi, and as part of the Social Service and Community Development, under 'Swachh Bharat Abhiyan' an online TREE PLANTATION Drive was conducted by the College NCC wing.

The online session begins with an introductory speech by the ANO on the contribution of Gandhiji to the nation and his idea of Swachh Bharat. The ANO also stressed on the importance of Tree plantation, its benefits and its long term effect on the Environment and the Future Generation.

The cadets were already briefed about the Preparation for today's activity. The cadets had planted trees in their garden or surrounding area and were also assigned the task of follow-up on the progress of their saplings. Because of Network connectivity many of the cadets were unable to join the group online but were asked to do the plantation at their own level.

The programme concluded with a Concluding speech by the ANO applauding all cadets for their efforts and initiative in planting more trees for the Environment.

Report on the Diabetes Awareness Programme

Date: November 14, 2021

Total Cadets Present: 17 SW

World Diabetes Day falls on Wednesday 14th November. Essentially, diabetes is about the body's ability (or lack of it) to produce the required amount of a hormone called insulin to control glucose levels in the blood.

The purpose of this one day is to raise awareness of a condition that millions of people all around the world live with every day. It's very important that people with diabetes maintain good control of their condition to help reduce and avoid long term complications. It is of utmost importance to create awareness among the younger generation also so that as the saying goes, "Better late than never", to generate a sense of responsibility to them to eat healthy and lead a healthy life style.

The College NCC wing had conducted a poster making drive as part of the awareness programme.
